The primary reason for most students to be actively engaged in ISPE is for career development, including future employment in the industry. The bio and pharmaceutical industry companies have multiple needs, including human resources, sales / marketing, accounting, financing, manufacturing, distribution, administration and management. The membership is open the entire year to undergraduate and graduate students from Biotechnology, Engineering, Chemistry, Biology, Marketing and Sales Management.

What is ISPE?

ISPE, the International Society for Pharmaceutical Engineering, is a global, not-for-profit membership organization that provides education, training, and technical publications to Life Sciences Professionals.

The Student Chapter of ISPE at UPR-Mayaguez campus was created in 2004. Driven by the lack of interest of the greater part of student associations on campus to provide professional enhancement tools ISPE PR Student Chapter begin making a distinction. Since then, ISPE PR Student Chapter keep offering highly needed seminars, supporting networking opportunities with industry professionals and demonstrating a genuine desire to help the community through charitable acts.
